

The Ten Commandments

Exodus 20: 3-17; Deuteronomy 6: 6-7

Dennis Y. Lee and James Ellfeldt

Dennis Yunglin Lee

1. God gave Mo - ses ten com - mand - ments for the Jews and for us all.
2. You shall have no oth - er gods, I am your God and I a - lone.
3. Love your par - ents, give them hon - or, for the blessings in His hand.
4. Ly - ing is for - bid - den, for it shakes up the so - ci - e - ty.

On Mount Si - nai He has writ - ten for the na - tions great and small.
You shall not make an - y i - dol, life - less things like made of stone.
Do not mur - der. Ta - king, life brings man - y cur - ses to the land.
Cov - et not the things a - round you, greed can't mix with pi - e - ty.

Dec - a - logue He put on tab - lets, right - eous laws, life to im - part;
Speak God's name with awe and rev - 'rence, care - ful be in what you say.
You shall not com - mit a - dult - 'ry, for it breaks the mar - riage vow.
Those who heard the laws pro - claimed, stood trem - bling, caught in dead - ly fears.

Hear the words that He has spo - ken; keep them in your mind and heart.
Work for six days, rest the sev - enth, sab - bath is God's ho - ly day.
Keep from steal - ing. God gives all we need for liv - ing here and now.
Write these laws, O God most ho - ly, in our hearts for all our years.