

Henrietta Lacks

<http://gardenofpraise.com/ibdlacks.htm>

No description

When Henrietta suspected she had cancer

After her death her children

The doctor at the hospital gave

Most cells die in the lab, but

Her cells doubled

The word HeLa used to designate her cells

For twenty years her family didn't

Henrietta's cells were used

A HeLa factory employing black scientists

Biotech companies made

The family did not receive

"The Way of All Flesh" is a

was derived from Henrietta's name.

every 20 hours

a sample to George Guy for tissue research.

know her cells were being used.

were raised by relatives.

Henrietta's cells continued to grow.

any financial benefit.

she went to Johns Hopkins Hospital.

to make polio vaccine.

millions of dollars selling her cells.

was built in Tuskegee.

BBC documentary about Henrietta Lacks.